

DATA SHEET

Threat Disruption

Disrupting threats before they disrupt you

BENEFITS

High quality threat identification

Data feeds provide reliable information about threats, reducing MTTD and MTTR.

Custom integrations

Threat disruption integrates with most leading technology suppliers, supporting disruption across your environment.

24/7/365 updates

You receive new indicators of compromise in real-time, 24/7/365 from a range of free and paid feeds, which includes national and international law enforcement agencies, NCSC's Malware Free Networks, Advantage Commercial Partners, as well as internal Advantage threat intelligence.

Why Advantage

Advantage has been at the forefront of cyber security and cyber threat intelligence for the past 7 years.

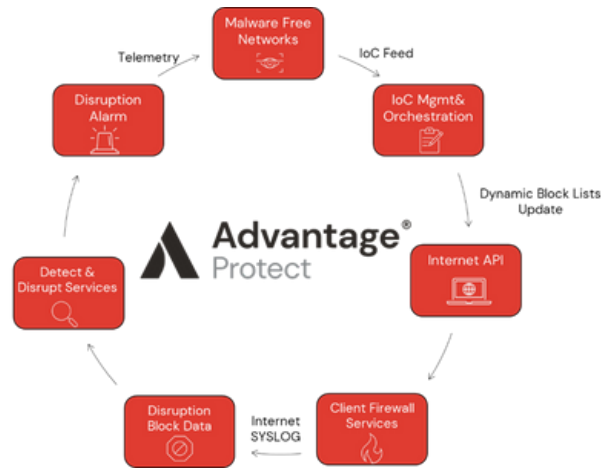

Our Advantage Protect team assists leading organisations across Oceania, offering a full suite of managed security and consultancy solutions. Additionally, our incident response team is the only SentinelOne SIREN partner in New Zealand and have assisted an ever growing list of New Zealand businesses with complex breaches. We have a deep understanding of existing and emerging threat actors, as well as the rapidly changing tools, tactics and procedures (TTPs) they use.

We understand how important it is to you that your data is safe. Advantage is ISO27001 certified, meaning you can trust that we apply trusted security and information practices.

Overview

Cyber threats are constantly evolving, and even with significant investments in cybersecurity, organizations can still struggle to detect and respond to threats in a timely manner.

To respond effectively, security teams need to have the time and resources to understand emerging threats and act promptly on intelligence. Our Threat Disruption service automates this process, freeing up your team to focus on other critical tasks.

Threat disruption solution

The Advantage Protect Threat Disruption solution is a proactive defence against threats in real-time.

It provides high-quality, trusted, and real-time threat intelligence that enhances your existing security tools and capabilities.

Combined with powerful automation and orchestration, Threat Disruption helps you respond immediately to threats and keep your organisation protected and secure.
